MONEY FOR DEFENSE

NOT ONE CENT FOR TELEPHONE TOLLS IS SENTIMENT OF BIG GLENDALE MEETING

The fact that Glendale had put on her fighting clothes and was ready to defend her telephone rights began to be manifested as one approached the High School Wednesday evening and saw autos lining the street on both sides which had brought citizens to the meeting called to review the telephone situation and the toll rate between Glendale and Burbank and Los Angeles announced in daily papers of this city and Los Angeles that morning.

It was even more apparent as one entered the auditorium and looked into the faces of the three hundred or more persons who had responded to the hurry-up call for a conference issued by the Secretary of the Greater Glendale Development Association.

In the absence of Norton C. Wells, president of the Association, the meeting was called to order by Chas. L. Chandler who served throughout the session as presiding officer and who summoned to share with him the lonely state of the platform, Frank Muhleman, president of the Board of City Trustees and W. E. Evans, City Attorney. After explaining the purpose of the meeting, Mr. Chandler introduced Mr. Evans with the promise that he would clarify the situation for the audience.

In a very clear way, despite interruption by a call to the telephone, Mr Evans confided to his hearers that the announcement of the toll rate was as great a surprise to him as to any other Glendale subscriber as he had received no direct word that it was impending.

He reviewed his futile efforts to get in communication with Mr. Mason, manager of the L. A. Telephone Exchange or to see the original order received by Mr. Mason from Postmaster General Burleson on which the announcement was based. He told of a visit to Postmaster Brown of Los Angeles who receives all bulletins issued by Burleson and of failure to find any order authorizing the telephone toll, from which he could only conclude that the order had been wired to San Francisco or Sacramento and relayed to Mr. Mason, a supposition borne out by Mr. Mason when communication with him was finally had by D. Ripley Jackson on behalf of Mr. Evans.

The fact that many municipalities besides Glendale have been brought face to face with the same situation through rate increases inaugurated by P. M. Gen. Burleson was pointed out by Mr. Evans and the further fact that the question is now before the Supreme Court of the United States to be argued Monday as to whether or not the Postmaster Gen-

MRS. G. MILLS STRICKEN

Mrs. G. Mills of 230 South Louise Street suffered a stroke of paralysis late Sunday evening, and was in so serious a condition that her life was despaired of for several days. Wednesday morning she showed signs of considerable improvement, and her friends are hoping she will rally. She has been subject to terrible headaches for years and this time the headache terminated in the paralysis. She is being treated by Dr. Eckles and is under the care of a nurse. She is conscious part of the time.

CORPORAL H. H. BURSON IN U. S.

Corporal Harold H. Burson, of Ammunition Train 316, arrived April 20 on the U. S. S. Virginia at Camp Merritt. He will be home in a short time.

LARGEST YET HELD

FUNERAL OF J. H. LLEWELLYN GREATEST IN HISTORY OF FOREST LAWN

On Tuesday there was held in Forest Lawn Memorial Park the greatest funeral service in its history. It was that of J. H. Llewellyn, head of the great Llewellyn Iron Works of Los Angeles, the second largest producer of steamship engines in the United States. Scores of autos bearing friends or spectators were there, and a three-car funeral train on the P. E. carried many employes of the company. Not an auto was allowed within the gates while the funeral service was in progress. Pall bearers were chosen from the group of employes present, and the remainder reverently followed the body to the chapel and then to the grave. There were two great truck loads of flowers sent out, enough to fill a large room. This was one of five funerals held at Forest Lawn on Tuesday.

SOCIAL EVENING

MEMBERS OF CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CONGREGATION HAVE PLEASANT GATHERING

"Church night," which is Wednesday night of every week, has become a fixed institution at Central Christian Church.

A committee of from four to six women of the church serves the church supper for a month, then gives way to another committee and so on. Supper is served at six. A full meal is put on and a nominal charge of 20 cents is made, barely sufficient to cover the cost. Whenever there are five Wednesdays in the month, the fifth night is given to a social gathering after the supper and a "stunt" of some kind is put on. Last night more than 100 were served at supper and then a short prayer service, at which more than 200 were present, was served. Then followed a clever little sketch, "The Last Day at the Country School," arranged by Mrs. F. W. Pigg, who drilled the characters in their parts and herself personated the old maid school marm. Pupils were Mrs. J. E. Peters, Mrs. M. G. Musser, Mrs. O. L. Kilborn, Mrs. Mary Shropshire and Mrs. J. H. Daugherty, Misses Lura Crouch and Birdie Shropshire, Messrs. John Cole, E. H. Learned and Oscar Whitaker. Three husky farmers, R. P. Jodon, John M. Ray and F. W. Pigg, constituted the Board of Trustees with Jodon as president. Mrs. J. M. Ray fearfully and wonderfully made up as a city school ma'am and "elocutor," desiring a country school position, was a rival for the regular teacher's position for the next school term. After speaking of pieces and singing of songs by the pupils, with frequent threats of the formidable switch in teacher's hands, the trustees made flowery speeches and chipped in five cents each to buy a new water bucket. One of the trustees championed the new candidate for school ma'am and the other two the present one, for the coming year's term. After some hot speeches, the incumbent was re-elected, whereon the defeated candidate retired in high dudgeon, accompanied by her champion, who first resigned as trustee and demanded back the nickel he had subscribed for the new water bucket. The parts were all extremely well portrayed and the audience enjoyed it all very much.

PRAYER CIRCLE

On Friday, May 2d, the North Glendale Undenominational Prayer Circle will hold an all-day meeting at 125 Fairview Ave. Rev. C. H. Norton will have charge of the morning devotional service, commencing at 10 o'clock, and continuing with prayers until 12. At 1:30 p. m. Rev. Chas. Sterrett, a missionary who recently returned from Persia, will conduct the devotional service and at 2 o'clock Rev. Vail P. Eddings, who is at home on furlough from the Island of Margarita, South America, will tell of his work. All interested are invited to attend.

GRAVE AND GAY

RETURNED SOLDIERS CAN RELATE INTERESTING EXPERIENCES IF THEY WILL

It is mighty hard to get a soldier or sailor who was in dangerous and appalling situations to talk of them, but many of them will readily tell of the funny side of soldier life. In the brief meeting at the S. P. station in Los Angeles Monday night Murray Durham found time to tell his parents of some laughable experiences. One was about the fried rabbit he so longed for and then didn't eat. In a squalid French home not far behind the front he saw some rabbits skipping about and asked the woman of the house to fry one for him. She agreed and he went on about his work, saying he would be back ere long to enjoy the meal. When he came back there was no familiar sight of rabbit slowly browning in the skillet, so he asked the woman where it was. She pointed to a bubbling pot on the stove and told him there was his rabbit. Murray had his teeth set for a fry, but the woman told him they never cooked them that way. Murray decided to investigate, however, so he walked up to the stove and lifted the pot lid. There, staring him in the face, with wide unseeing eyes, was the rabbit. He dropped the lid hurriedly and asked the woman what it all meant. She explained that French people believed in wasting nothing so they cooked head and all so they could gnaw off of the skull what little meat there was. Murray told her she could eat his rabbit and got away from the

GOOD SHOWING FOR MAYOR WOODMAN

CHIEF OF POLICE BUTLER DENIES THAT MAYOR HAD ANYTHING TO DO WITH APPOINTMENT OF HACKETT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Los Angeles, May 1.—A general denial that Mayor Frederic T. Woodman had anything to do with the appointment of Police Sergeant William Hackett as head of the Metropolitan squad fell from the lips of Chief of Police John L. Butler today when he resumed his testimony for the defense in the trial of the mayor.

Butler told his story of the relations existing between himself and Mayor Woodman in a straightforward manner that apparently carried home to both jury and spectators.

The defense used him today entirely for the purpose of setting before the jury their contention that Hackett's reappointment had nothing to do with an underworld plot to secure police protection in return for campaign funds, as Horace W. Karr, newspaper writer, had claimed.

Questioned by Capt. John D. Fredericks, chief counsel for the Mayor, Butler denied that Mayor Woodman, in a meeting in the mayor's office during the latter part of January, attended by Attorney Hugh McBeth, had said: "Well, chief, we'll reappoint him."

Butler said that at the time he left this meeting he had probably made up his mind to reappoint Hackett, though he made no definite announcement of his determination to the mayor.

According to Butler, the meeting had been called in order that he might make it plain to Hackett that he had never entertained any bad feeling for the police sergeant.

MEXICO AND COSTA RICA MUST DEMONSTRATE

MUST PROVE THEIR RIGHT TO RECOGNITION BY POWERS BEFORE ADMISSION TO LEAGUE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, May 1.—It was learned here today that the reason Mexico and Costa Rica were not invited to become members of the League of Nations was that not all the powers recognize their governments. They, like Russia, must prove their right to recognition. The United States recognizes Mexico, while England and France do not. On the other hand, England and France recognize Costa Rica, while the United States does not.

BOMB IN SENATOR'S MAIL

DISCOVERED AT SALISBURY, NORTH CAROLINA, AND REPORTED TO POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, May 1.—The postmaster at Salisbury, North Carolina, today wired the Post Office Department that he had found a bomb in mail there addressed to United States Senator Lee Overman.

San Francisco, May 1.—Postmasters of various coast cities have been asked to watch for bombs similar to those sent to Mayor Hanson of Seattle. No bombs were reported during the morning.

GERMAN DELEGATES PRESENT CREDENTIALS

RECEIVED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF FRANCE, THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Versailles, May 1.—Peace negotiations with German representatives officially began here at 3 o'clock this afternoon. At that hour German Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantzau and Herr Landsberg presented their credentials as delegates to Jules Cambon, representing France; Henry White, the United States, and Ambassador Matsui of Japan. The meeting lasted just five minutes.

BUSINESS AT STANDSTILL IN PARIS

MAY DAY DEMONSTRATIONS LEAD TO STREET FIGHTS AND SEVERE CASUALTIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, May 1.—May Day anti-government agitators started a disturbance at the Place de la Concord and Place de la Republique. An attempted rush of a military cordon in the Rue Royale succeeded in breaking through the gen d'armes' line, but cavalrymen stopped the rioters. Numerous fist fights followed and many soldiers and civilians were wounded severely. More fights occurred when the demonstrators unfurled a red flag. Business is practically at a standstill for the day. Even newspapers are closed and no street cars are running.

Reports show that Labor Day is being celebrated throughout Europe with the greatest energy. In London a big celebration was held in Hyde Park, but there were no disturbances. The Italian government banned all demonstrations.

MAY DAY RADICALS IN PENNSYLVANIA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Indiana, Pa., May 1.—It is announced here that state police have dispersed a party of armed radicals en route for Indiana from Homer City, Pa., for May Day demonstrations.

CLUB HONORS

MRS. MATTISON B. JONES SPEAKER AND SPECIAL GUEST AT VENTURA CO. CONVENTION

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of this city was guest of honor and chief speaker at the afternoon session at the Federation meeting of the Women's Clubs of Ventura county which was held in the Methodist Church at Oxnard Wednesday. She and her party made the trip by auto and reached their destination while the club women were still at luncheon. As she entered the dining room the convention rose en masse and gave the Chautauqua salute. A delicious luncheon was served by the ladies of the church and at its conclusion an adjournment was taken to the auditorium where the program was given. Besides the address by Mrs. Jones there were musical numbers and Mrs. E. B. Weirick, Chairman of Social Service for the Los Angeles District, also spoke. Mrs. Jones was presented with a huge bouquet of roses and following an adjournment at 3:30 a reception in her honor was held at which tea was served. It was a delightful day in many respects and happily completed the tour of clubs of the district which Mrs. Jones had begun when the influenza epidemic interrupted club activities. The attendance on the convention was large and great enthusiasm prevailed.

Mrs. Jones is spending all of today in Los Angeles where the Program Committee for the State Convention, of which she is a member, was in session during the forenoon, and the State Executive Board in the afternoon. As Vice-President of the State she is required to attend these sessions and is therefore deprived of the pleasure of participating in the Rose Tea of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST NOTES

W. C. Raley, who has recently been made an auditor for the Pacific Union Conference, returned Wednesday from St. Helena, where he audited the books of the Pacific Union College.

Winifred Sturges, who is in the P. U. Conference, spent Friday in San Fernando with friends.

Elder J. W. Christian, president of the P. U. Conference, and Elder W. F. Martin are in Washington, D. C., attending the Spring Council of the General Conference Committee, which has charge of the business of the organization in the interim between the sessions which are held once in four years. It opened Tuesday at Takoma Park and continues for ten days, or until May 6th.

B. M. Emerson, treasurer of the P. U. Conference, is in Grand Junction, Colo., on conference business and expects to be gone until about May 12th or 13th.

James Howeth has severed his connection with the conference as assistant to Mr. Emerson, and has taken up work with Dr. Henry R. Harrower.

The Glendale Sanitarium is making preparations for the annual commencement exercises when nurses will be graduated. They will take place about a month hence.

CORP. D. C. NEWCOMB WRITES MRS. L. T. ROWLEY DETAILS OF WAR EXPERIENCES

Mrs. L. T. Rowley of this city has recently received very interesting letters from her brother, Corporal Dudley C. Newcomb, who is a member of the 125th Infantry, 32d Division, now with the Army of Occupation in Germany. That he was in the thick of the war is proved by the record he gives of his service, viz., Alsace Sector May 18-July 21, Ourcq-Vesle Offensive July 31-Aug. 8, Aisne-Marne-Soisson Offensive Aug. 28-Sept. 10; Meuse (Argonne) Sept. 26-Oct. 12. He writes:

"We usually stayed in the front line about eight days but in the last drive the Division was in about 21 days. There was very little time that we were not under shell fire from May until the close. We would take the front and stay as long as we had enough men and then fall back in support while another battalion or regiment would take our place. Several times, and on the Ourcq in particular, we advanced so fast the artillery couldn't keep up with us. It was sure tough fighting to take our objectives without the artillery to keep the German artillery busy and clean out their machine gun nests.

R. C. CONFERENCE

GLENDALE CHAPTER WELL REPRESENTED IN GATHERING AT HOTEL ALEXANDRIA

Glendale was well represented at the Red Cross Conference held at Hotel Alexandria in Los Angeles Wednesday over which John B. Miller, Pacific Coast Chairman, presided, and which was the first of a series of such conferences. It was said to be the largest gathering of its kind that has been held there in the past year, and it brought together and renewed enthusiasm in representatives of all the chapters of Southern California. From the local organization went Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Chairman; Mrs. Robert Blackburn, Cashier; Mrs. W. W. Worley, Junior Chairman; Mrs. Arthur B. Brown, Chairman Home Service; L. T. Rowley, Chairman of Salvage; Mrs. Fannie Y. Stockbridge, Acting Chairman of Shop.

At the forenoon session addresses were made by distinguished representatives of different departments of work, and the afternoon was devoted to sections or round-tables which met in separate rooms. A mid-day luncheon was served in the Hotel Cafe.

One of the most interesting of the addresses was made by Miss Kathleen Burke, a Scotch nurse, who crossed the ocean 14 times during the war, who was gassed and is still suffering from the effects. Mr. Rowley pronounced it the finest talk of its kind he had ever heard. She gave a splendid account of the activities of the Red Cross over there, telling, for instance, of the advance of the troops into cities which had been in the hands of the Germans, how the soldier boys turned nurses and cared for the sick and afflicted and carried the old women back from the battle line, and told of other work done by soldiers in the absence of Red Cross workers.

She also spoke of the care given the boys by nurses on the transports where influenza had broken out and of the very small percentage of mortality whereas the sum of the losses ran into the hundreds on the transports on which there were no nurses.

The main theme of the conference was the future activities of the Red Cross. One speaker outlined the varieties of home service work as for instance the work of a "community nurse." She showed how many families think they have the right idea in regard to home management while as a matter of fact they are entirely wrong and it would be the province of such a nurse not only to give in-

CHINA SHOWER

MISS WAUNITA EMERY ENTERTAINS FOR MISS HUNTLEY WHO IS SOON TO WED

Miss Waunita Emery gave a beautiful shower party Wednesday evening at her home, 329 North Kenwood street, in honor of Miss Evangeline Huntley who is soon to become the bride of Seymour Smith. Roses were used in profusion in decoration making a lovely and appropriate setting for a function for a June bride. The evening was spent in playing bunco and recalling happy times the girls had enjoyed together. Mrs. Harry Woodrow Wilson won the prize, a beautiful hand-painted sandwich plate. Miss Huntley led the march to the dining room where all were seated at one large table decorated in Cecil Brunner roses and centered with a huge May basket of the tiny pink buds mingled with orange blossoms and surmounted with a pink tulle bow. Individual bon-bon containers were pink May baskets of Cecil Brunner buds and the same idea was carried out in the place cards and tally cards.

After the two-course luncheon, Misses Josephine and Olive Belle Emery brought in a large May basket which they placed before the guest of honor and there under a covering of roses she discovered a number of beautiful china gifts.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining her guests by her mother, Mrs. E. U. Emery, and her sisters, Misses Josephine and Olive Belle.

The guests were Miss Huntley, the guest of honor, Misses Ernestine Lyons, Marjorie Morris, Catherine Phillips, Gladys Justema, Dorothy Hobbs, Margaret Lusby, Lila Webster, Franc Kinch, Carrie Stone, Kathleen Dodge, Dorothy Lee, Esther Schremp, Mrs. Noble Ripley, Mrs. Harry W. Wilson, Mrs. J. G. Huntley and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith.

Mrs. H. M. Doll of 727 South Louise street returned last Friday from a three weeks' stay at Santa Monica Beach, where she went to rest and recuperate from the strain of her father's illness and death.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1919

PEACE CONFERENCE ABOUT TO END

The beginning of the end of the peace conference has arrived. The German delegates have begun to arrive in Paris to sign the agreement. While Italy's secession is regrettable, yet they may decide to return for the final wind-up. While from their standpoint Fiume must logically be theirs, our President is right in standing firmly to his contention that the new Jugo-Slav nation must be considered. Italy is to be given all she contended for with the sole exception of Fiume, and certainly ought to be satisfied.

HAIL TO THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS!

It is announced that the League of Nations pact, as revised and amended, will be approved by the United States Senate, with very few dissenting votes being cast. And the American people approve of it by a vast majority. The Literary Digest recently received 1,377 replies from cards sent to editors of daily papers all over the country, and only 181 declared against any league whatever. It is supposed that in the main they reflected the views of their readers. As predicted by the Evening News some weeks ago, Senators Lodge, Knox and confreres, who signed the agreement to oppose the original imperfect league pact, are now seen to have been absolutely right and better friends to the country than the heedless ones who so condemned them.

NINTH IN POPULATION

The prophecy that California will have, within the next half century, as large a population as that of the entire United States at the present day, is based on standards of congestion common in Europe, together with the fact that agricultural, industrial and commercial possibilities of this state are of such great variety and extent that a tremendous development must naturally be expected. From this date, growth will be rapid. Heavy immigration would have set in five years ago had not the influence of the Panama Canal been diverted from its normal purpose. Other factors are contributing to the state's welfare with the approach of peace. The removal of war time restrictions, the release of capital, the inauguration of reclamation works, the stimulation of farming, mining, shipbuilding, manufacturing, packing, and so on, will increase employment, swell savings deposits, encourage home building, extend the tillable area, increase soil production, and give California a flying start towards its logical destiny.

Already ranking ninth in population with three others only slightly in the lead, it is readily seen that California is on her way to greatness. Massachusetts, Missouri and Michigan have each less than 4,000,000 people. Texas, according to latest estimates of the census bureau as quoted by the Riverside Press, has 4,601,000; Ohio, 5,273,000; Illinois, 6,317,000; Pennsylvania, 8,798,000; New York, ranking first, of course, 10,646,000.

Another fact that tells of California's unique position among states and establishes its claims to favor with the human family, is that only New York and Ohio can claim more automobiles than are registered here. With a population of 3,119,412, this state has 407,761 motor cars, or one car for every 7.6 people.

A final thought that may be properly and gratefully considered in connection with California's manifest "place in the sun" is that in proportion as the white population of the Pacific coast increases, the so-called "yellow peril" will disappear.

BRAIN OPERATION DURING GALE AT SEA

There have been remarkable operations in heavy weather on shipboard in placid ante-bellum days that usually have wound up with the death of the patient, but the phenomenal bit of surgery performed in, or on, the cruiser Charleston, in from Brest, when she was in mid-sea recently in a mighty blast, has cast all previous Atlantic surgical performances into unimaginable shades.

There was an unleashed cannon, described by Victor Hugo in his story of "Ninety-Three." The cannon went cavorting around the particular deck it was on and got the whole ship's company guessing as to what it might do next, when a gallant Vedean sailor lassoed the gun.

All of these old yarns were marvelous, as old yarns are when they are first told, but they drift into the shadows of miraculous, undated days, when compared with the performance aboard the Charleston.

The patient was and is Theodore Charon. He is a Georgian and he was standing near a glass-covered port when a towering sea smashed against the weather side of the Charleston. The sea, an exceptionally fierce one, broke the heavy glass to splinters and sent some of them into the brain of Charon, destroying his left eye.

It was hardly a minute later Charon was taken on an operating table and all the ship's surgical talent was making an effort to save him. It was a case of doing stunts between throbbing waves that were not less than fifty feet from trough to crest, while the cruiser was rolling almost at an angle of forty-five degrees. Father Hurley, the ship's chaplain, was one of the dozen who made an effort to hold the patient on the table. The surgeons, Dr. E. P. Genereau and Dr. W. A. J. Wright, trepanned the skull, working at intervals when the ship was a bit steady, while the chaplain and the surgeons' assistants held Charon on the table.

Occasionally the patient, who had been put to sleep with anaesthetic, slid across the table, but was prevented from rolling off. The surgeons worked two hours between riotous seas to bring the patient back to appreciation of home greeting in Georgia.

The wielding of the surgical instruments affected the nerves of the surgeons, but they stuck to it, and Private Charon will not cross the Styx for some indefinite period. Fourteen persons in all helped in the operation, and most of them were pretty sore muscularly, but mighty well pleased in assisting in the most remarkable operation ever performed in a hurricane.—New York Sun.

Postmaster General Burleson is the target of criticism now from newspaper men, telephone officials and the ousted cable company officers. Rumors of the President's displeasure with him are current and his resignation is predicted.

WEARY WAITING

At other times we would reach our objectives ahead of time and our artillery would fire in on us until we could signal them. That was sure fine, for our artillery once started, sure put over some barrage. I was knocked down quite a number of times by shells, and never scratched, except by the chunks of dirt, while other men were killed within a few feet of me. We dreaded the shells most as they would make such jagged wounds, while a machine gun bullet either killed or made a clean wound. The shell fragments were almost red hot when they struck. While advancing across open fields the machine gun bullets would go rpt. spt. with a crack and you can imagine the air was full of them, when one gun shoots about 400 shots a minute. We have the Browning rifle weighing 15 pounds that shoots 500 rounds a minute, and would shoot 800, but it burns up the barrel. I was never hit by a bullet, but have had them nick my helmet and felt the wind in my face. One had so many close calls they were taken as a matter of course. We were in several tight places I never expected to get out of, but pulled through O. K. Will be able to tell you more when I get home. After I was transferred to the scouts our duties were to establish observation posts, guide troops, locate machine gun nests, and gain any information we could about the enemy. Believe me, there was enough excitement for the most particular person in the world.

"We may move any time now as we followed the 42d Division out.

"I am back with the scouts and in the A. of O. We are in the heart of the Prussians, but they do not have much to say. There are not many young men out yet except those that are wounded and unfit for service. They sure put out some fighters for we hit the Prussian Guards a couple of times. They would stay by their machine guns until we blew their heads off but there weren't any of them who liked the bayonet.

"Some one stole the Komfort Kit that Ada made for me, at Alsace. It sure made me mad, but I couldn't do anything. I would have lost it later I found out, for when going over the top we cut loose from everything. All I carried was a razor in my pocket and reserve rations and they got pretty heavy at times. One can't have anything out of his sight in the army. You may be able to get an answer to me before I sail, but I doubt it.

"My arm is about the same. It is bad on account of the severed nerves which makes it hard to hold a pen. My leg is as good as ever."

Another letter, dated a week later (March 30th), from Neidurteinbach, Germany, says:

"We are merely doing outpost duty here. The only amusements are the shows which the "Y" gives of an evening, but the weather has been so bad I haven't been to any lately. There is about two inches of snow on the ground now and it is still snowing.

"The scout organization was broken up last week so I am back with my company now. My arm prohibited using a rifle in drill or taking part in athletics so the captain placed me in charge of the transportation. It is a soft job so I have no kick coming. My division (the 32d) was scheduled to leave here about the 15th of April, but I understand today that we will not leave until the 26th. We should arrive in the states by the first of June at the latest. We will surely be glad when we do arrive.

Robert is seeing a lot of Italy. Wish I could take a trip in that part of the continent. Some of us are getting seven-day passes to France but do not think I will get one.

"Work must be very scarce at home now. We get $60 from the government when we are mustered out and the government has asked our occupation and the name of any person or corporation we wish to work for when we return and will try and get employment for us when we get back. My service record is marked excellent for intelligence and good for character in the five outfits I have been in, so I should not have much trouble in getting a recommendation. If I can get a good steady job I think it will be permanent, for this fighting over here has taken about all the desire for excitement out of me. There was quite a few times I would have signed for a pick and shovel for the rest of my life if peace could have been declared on the spot.

"The people here have a hog or two to the family, a cow and a few chickens. Eggs sell for a mark (12c) apiece. A woman gave a service doctor two eggs in payment for her bill the other day. They keep their cows in a barn which is usually a part of the house, and work them when they can. There are not many horses here and they are not much good.

"We have good billet and plenty to eat so have no kick except the country and people. Our issue of candy was passed out last night."

struction and aid in the care of the sick, but to consider the general hygiene of the family and the protection of the neighborhood. She also pointed out the work that could be done in the prevention of accidents if some one connected with a chapter would look up speeders who put others in jeopardy by their reckless driving and warn them. She brought out a great many lines where home service work could be made of value to communities, mentioning among other things mortality among children due many times to lack of a knowledge of primary laws of life, mortality which could be avoided by proper education and bringing people up to higher standards of hygiene.

First aid was taken up by a doctor who has been engaged in this line of work since the beginning of the war. One room was given up to this branch of service and mention was made of the fact that a special drive is being made at the beaches on instruction in the rescue of those nearly drowned.

Finances were taken up by an official well posted who declared there is at the present time a call for an actual expenditure to relieve the needs of those who are hungry and destitute over seas of at least fifty million dollars as our share of that work. He said it is wrong to suppose that the money in the hands of the local chapters is not needed for relief work, that after making all proper allowances for home work excess funds should not be used for the purchase of Liberty Bonds but for the aid of the needy since that was the purpose for which the money was given. No attempt was made to indicate how local work should be carried on. That was left in the hands of individual organizations. That the work of the Red Cross was finished, he absolutely denied, and said its activities would not be suspended until an order to close had been received from national headquarters. He stated further that an order had recently been received to renew shipments of clothing.

A NEEDED IMPROVEMENT PROTESTED

Glendale Evening News:—

I am concerned to see that so many of my friends and neighbors are signing a protest against a much needed public improvement, namely, the opening of Orange street between Lexington Drive and Milford street. When Glendale becomes a large city, and more closely built up, will it not be a great detriment to have that space (now entirely vacant), cutting the street into two parts? Suppose Maryland avenue was cut in two by a block of residences, how awkward it would be!

The protest seems to be an objection not so much to the opening as to the basis of assessment. The report is current that it will cost $20.00 per lot. If past precedents are followed the lots nearest the improvement will pay more than that amount and those further away considerably less. Could not our City Council determine at once and make known the exact amount of the cost to each lot, so that those who find it will be less expensive than they expected it to be can take their names from the protest before the expiration of the 30 days if they so desire? If the city authorities could do this we could all act more intelligently, as at present there is apparent confusion.

Of course, it must cost some money to make this improvement and we whose homes are south of Lexington seldom go north on Orange St., but is it not a detriment to Glendale and a great disadvantage to any street to be so divided? Should not our civic pride prompt us to assist in the opening of Orange street?

MRS. E. H. WILLISFORD.

CUBS BEAT GIANTS

In the game today Harold Thompson pitched for the Cubs and Wes Aagason for the Giants. Borncamp and Blanford umpired. Cubs made 7 in first inning to none for Giants. Game lasted 4 innings with final score of 8 to 1 in Cubs' favor.

BURBANK DEFEATED

Glendale's Intermediate School again undertook to play and beat the Burbank Intermediate's ball team Wednesday afternoon. In the second inning George Russ made a home run bringing in two men. One of the boys on the Burbank team hit the ball and got to first. Frederick Easley had the ball and as the Burbank boy started to leave first, Easley, who was first baseman, tagged him with the ball, putting him out.

There were so many first, second and third baggers they could not all be mentioned.

In the third inning Gordon Richardson made a home run bringing in two men, Louis Urquidez caught four or five flies in center field. The following boys played on the Glendale team:

Nine innings were played and the result of the game was 24 to 9 in favor of Glendale.

COMMUNITY SING

At the Community Sing which will be held at the High School this evening at 7:45 o'clock, special numbers will be given by Robert and Grace Tower. There will be two duets, "Mill" and "Hungarian" by D'Ourville, and Robert Tower will play alone "Dance de Ballet" and "Fauns" by Chaminade, also "Waltz Liedling" by De Frauns.

The Glendale chairmen of the Victory Loan Drive have arranged with Los Angeles headquarters for a good four-minute speaker who will address the chorus for a few moments.

Because of the approach of the date for the contest with the Hollywood chorus it is desirable that all singers be on hand tonight for drill.

Personals

Mrs. J. E. Campbell, sister of Mrs. A. A. Barton, returned to Woodlake, California, Wednesday. She has been in Glendale for about four months.

Miss Mary Imbusch and Mrs. Simon of Riverside have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Daugherty of 219 North Adams while attending the Lutheran Conference this week.

The young ladies' and young men's classes of the Glendale Lutheran Church will enjoy a box and pie social Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Albon Esterly, at 703 South Adams street.

Dr. Herbert J. Weaver, his wife and son John, were guests of Mrs. M. A. Anderson on South Isabel street during the Lutheran Conference. They returned Wednesday to their home in Riverside where Dr. Weaver is pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Young people of the Tropico Presbyterian Church will enjoy a May-Day social Saturday evening in the social hall of the church which will be under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Games will be played and refreshments will be served.

Word has been received from Dinuba, Cal., that Mr. and Mrs. Hollis D. Thompson are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a baby girl at the Dinuba Sanitarium Easter morning, April 20th. Mrs. Thompson will be remembered as Miss Gladys Litchfield, a former resident of Glendale.

Mrs. John G. Dean of 719 North Central avenue reports that her mother, Mrs. S. W. Corwin, a former resident of Glendale, but now living in Elsinore, was taken to Thornycroft last Saturday morning where she underwent quite a serious operation. She is doing nicely and is under the care of Dr. Eckles.

The Mountain Auto Line, operating daily service to camps and scenic resorts on the 101 mile "Rim of the World" drive has established a local agency with Cornwell & Kelty and literature describing the charms of that region of hunting and fishing and ice-cold lakes and streams can be had there.

Wright & Ecklebarger have sold their basket grocery at 108 East Broadway to Paul Kugler of Pasadena. Associated with him will be Mr. James A. Hayward, for seven years associate manager of one of the Chaffee stores in Pasadena. Mr. Hayward arrives next Tuesday. Both he and Mr. Kugler are endeavoring to find houses to rent so they can move their families here. Mr. Kugler is a Knight Templar and a life member of the Elks.

Allen Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davenport of Glendale avenue, this city, has been promoted from Ensign to Lieutenant, Jr. He is now in Boston awaiting assignment to another ship. He was on the Mount Vernon in which he made two voyages transporting troops from Brest to American ports, and asked for a change. He does not know when he will be discharged from service. In the meantime he is seeing considerable of the world. He has written very interesting descriptions of the sights of Boston and its environs.

Elder O. E. Jones and Mrs. Jones of 115 West Garfield, have been receiving very satisfactory news from the James and Hall families who, it will be remembered, sailed for the Orient several months ago. The doctors, H. C. and Mrs. James, who have been in charge of a sanitarium in Shanghai, expect to go to Canton before long to take charge of a sanitarium there. The Halls are moving to Shanghai and all of them will be in that city for the summer probably. Influenza has been prevalent there, as here, and Mr. Hall has had it, but not very severely. Their mission work is coming on well and all they write is encouraging.

THIS IS THE NIGHT

Pershing Command League of American Defenders will hold its first regular meeting since permanent organization was effected, in Elks' Social Hall this evening. After regular work, a banquet for the promotion of sociability will be enjoyed. The promoters of this order are stressing the fact that the spread of Bolshevism and the impudent activities of many shirkers of duty in war times tend to take the lead in civic affairs and crowd out the brave men who fought to save the country. Those 113 slackers who were dismissed from Leavenworth with full pay and honors not accorded to some of those who did their duty at the front, have their counterparts in many states and they are trying to run things just now. Let the war veterans combine in organizations like this one and see to it that such fellows take back seats. Turn out to the meeting tonight, you gallant defenders of the flag.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair except cloudy or foggy tonight and in the early morning near the coast.

A FAR JOURNEY

MISS SUSINE WESSELS AND MISS PERLE OLDS LEAVE FOR CAPETOWN, S. AFRICA

Miss Susine Wessels of this city, the well-known violinist, and her friend, Miss Perle Olds, a skilled nurse, left this morning on the first stages of a journey which is to land them at Cape Town, South Africa, where the parents of Miss Wessels reside. Their immediate objective is Good Thunder, Minn., where they will visit Miss Olds' sister for a few days and then go to New York. There they will board a steamer which goes direct to Cape Town from that port with but one stop.

The romantic relations of these two ladies date back to a time when Miss Olds accompanied a patient to South Africa and there met Miss Wessels, with whom she developed such a friendship that the South African girl went with her on the return voyage as far as Europe where she wished to complete her musical studies. Instead of returning to Cape Town Miss Wessels came to Glendale and joined Miss Olds who is a sister of Mrs. Jennette Smith of 410 East Broadway and who has other relatives here. Their renewed association cemented their union and they plan never to be separated again. Whether they will remain in South Africa or return to America after a term of years, only the future will reveal. Besides her parents, Miss Wessels has two brothers and two sisters in Africa.

Before she left she arranged with Miss Wendt of Los Angeles to take her music pupils on the violin, and she asked the Evening News to convey her farewells to many friends whom she was unable to see before leaving. She has a brother in California who was on the staff of the Glendale Sanitarium but is now established on a ranch near San Jacinto.

Dr. Henry R. Harrower, who is mortal and occasionally succumbs to the ills to which all flesh is heir in spite of his medical knowledge, is now sufficiently recovered to conduct his business with his usual pep and take a hand in the telephone controversy. The doctor loves a good fight and snuffs the battle from afar. Had he been quite "fit," he would probably have read the hand-writing on the wall when the rest of Glendale was blissfully unconscious of the impending toll order.

YOUTH IN AGE

By Francis Lee Chauvan

From life's mountain I look westward
Into the fading light;
I'm in the sunset of my years,—
They're passing to their night.

In God is the youth of thy age;
Know God, and thou'lt die young!
Are the song words felt in my soul,
By angel chorus sung.

We know God in our pure of life,
Not in the thought expressed
With vanity of verse or prose
In word euphony dressed.

Youth in age feels the touch divine
Of nature's true beauty;
It drinks from the pure fount of thought
Its nectar of duty.

It halts the long march of its years
With the love in its heart
The seasons of earth never pale,
For of God 'tis a part.

Without Thy grace to give me strength
In my weakness, O God!
I will die old;—my faults will be
My soul's chastening rod.

GUESTS FROM SALT LAKE

A. F. LaCom, his wife and two daughters, Louise and Katherine, arrived in Glendale Tuesday en route for San Francisco. Mr. LaCom is a very successful business man in Salt Lake City and he and his family are guests in the home of his mother, Mrs. Katrina LaCom, at 347 Oak St. Mrs. L. Flutot, of 412 Oak street, entertained in their honor last evening with a dinner at which covers were laid for the visitors named, for Mrs. Katrina LaCom and granddaughter Margaret LaCom, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Levy and daughters Dorothy and Margery, Masters Edward and Robert Flutot and the host and hostess. A pink color scheme was carried out in the floral decorations with roses. The LaComs will be entertained considerably while here and will tour California quite extensively.

RECEPTION TONIGHT

Members of the First Presbyterian Church are planning a reception to be held at the church this evening in honor of the 59 new members who were received into the church last Sunday. The hours are from 8 to 10 and all members and friends of the church and congregation are invited to be present.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Following are some of the recent transactions negotiated by James W. Pearson, real estate dealer:

Sold 1223 Campbell street, North Glendale, for M. Paonessa to Mrs. Mabel Brosseau of Washington who bought for a home. Cash transaction.

Rented 247 N. Kenwood furnished to Mr. Hawk who is interested in business with Mr. Tarr. He expects to be permanent.

Rented 131 N. Everett furnished to Mr. Sam Seaton who came from Georgia to be with Roberts & Echols, Druggists.

Rented 666 Green street furnished to L. A. Dineen of New York City. Mr. Dineen and family expect to be permanent.

Rented 120 W. Cypress avenue to Mr. Peck and family of Los Angeles.

Rented 343 W. Harvard, Umbaugh to Worthington, unfurnished bungalow.

Rented 711 N. Maryland to James T. Stewart of Garvanza who has bought the C. & S. Cafeteria on Brand boulevard.

Mr. Pearson says things are still quite active and there are several good places left to sell at considerable less than one could replace them for.

HEALTH LECTURE ON RHEUMATISM METHODIST CHURCH TONIGHT

Large and enthusiastic audiences are attending the health lectures at the Methodist Church daily at 2:30 and 7:45. The subject of the lecture tonight will be Cause and Cure of Rheumatism. Subject Friday, 2:30, Foods and Food Values and a Balanced Ration. Friday, 7:45, Kidney Disease and Auto-Intoxication. Admission free to all lectures. The sermon-lecture by J. C. Elliott Sunday night, on The Power of the Mind Over the Body, will be given in the First Methodist Church.

Mr. Elliott says in speaking of rheumatism, "it is a filth disease." This does not mean the accumulation of filth on the outside of the body, but on the inside. The poisons causing rheumatism come from our food supply, poor circulation of the blood, lack of exercise and scientific bathing, and from infection. The methods for the elimination of these poisons will be fully discussed in the lecture tonight.

Cure of Rheumatism

"The cure of rheumatism means the elimination of all accumulated poisons. This means the cutting down of the food supply to a minimum. The diet for cure of rheumatism must be very limited. The selection of the food supply must be made with the greatest care, the amount of food must be very small for a time. All the poisonous foods must be left out of the diet. A generous amount of scientific breathing and a liberal amount of exercise is necessary for perfect circulation of the blood, as well as its purity. Hot bathing is the great enemy of rheumatism; this must be done on a scientific basis. The hot bath, the sweat bath, the tonic bath and the cold bath are all necessary." A complete outline of diet and scientific bathing for cure of rheumatism will be given in the lecture tonight. Rheumatism is a curable disease.

Food Combinations

"Food values and combinations are essential for health. A balanced ration is imperative. Hundreds have a surplus amount of food, yet are under-nourished and lack energy, strength and endurance, because of the lack of a balanced ration. They are continually under weakness, languor and fatigue. The body is under-nourished, the brain is inactive, the nerves are impaired, and the muscles are below par. Food values are of prime importance in preservation of the body and prevention of disease." All these problems will be discussed.

Kidney Disease—Auto-Intoxication

"Kidney Disease and Auto-Intoxication will be discussed Friday at 7:30. The kidneys are the most vulnerable point of the whole body. They are the shortest-lived organs of the body and yet must handle the most deadly poison of the entire body—uric acid. They are called the deaf and dumb organs because they never give warning and never sound an alarm. Nature demands obedience or penalty in the care of the kidneys."

Admission free to all lectures.

eral under the proclamation of the President taking over the telephone and telegraph lines, has authority to fix rates, especially in interstate lines, and he advised that no action be taken by Glendale until the decision of the Supreme Court should be rendered in that case, because should the ruling deny the power of the Postmaster General to fix rates, the present controversy would be settled for Glendale since the toll could not be enforced under the order on which it is based. He said that the Railroad Commission of California had contended that rate making jurisdiction had remained with the commission, and U. S. District Judge Landis in a similar case had held that the Postmaster General did not have jurisdiction for rate fixing.

As showing the general judicial attitude on the question he referred to an address before the Los Angeles City Club by Mr. Thelen, formerly a member of the California State Railroad Commission but now with the Railroad Administration at Washington under Director Hines. Relative to the question of the jurisdiction of the Director General of Railroads to fix rates, Thelen held that the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission remained as it was.

"The proclamations," said Mr. Evans, "are almost exactly the same. The general purpose was the same in taking over the railroads, the telegraph and telephone lines, so comparing this situation with the railroads, it is perfectly reasonable for us to assume that if in the case of the railroads the Commission still has jurisdiction, in the case of telephones the R. R. Commission still has jurisdiction."

Mr. Evans stated further that he had wired the clerk of the U. S. District Court in Chicago to send him a copy of Judge Landis' decision which can probably not reach him before Monday and he intimated that possibly by the middle of next week the Supreme Court will have "finally and everlastingly settled the question."

An evening paper was handed to Mr. Evans by Mr. Pierce containing a telegram from Albany, N. Y., (which he read), announcing that Supreme Court Justice Rudd had upheld the contention of the Public Service Commission of that state that increases in rates by the New York Telegraph Co. and Western Union Company were illegal and unlawful and had issued injunction orders preventing the enforcement of the increases ordered by the Postmaster General.

Various aspects of the situation were discussed as for instance the attitude of telephone officials towards Glendale and Burbank, the possibility that they were trying to punish the city for its resistance to the toll by conspicuously advertising it in Los Angeles papers; also the tremendous influence which must have been exerted to persuade the Postmaster General to single out two such small towns as Glendale and Burbank for such an order, all of which was mentioned by Mr. Woodberry.

D. Ripley Jackson stated he had been assured by Mr. Mason over the 'phone that the toll order applied to La Jolla and San Diego and to all of Southern California; but Mr. Evans referred to the advertisements which mentioned only Glendale and Burbank.

Replying to Mr. Woodberry's intimation of a strong pull at Washington, Mr. Evans said: "We could only prove that by investigating the records. I would not be at all surprised to find that very thing, though."

O. A. Lane counseled following the advice of the City Attorney and awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court, and moved that "It is the sense of this meeting that when it adjourns it adjourn subject to the call of the president of the Board of Trustees or of the Greater Glendale Development Association." The motion was seconded by Frank Booth and approved by E. C. Emery who indorsed Mr. Evans' recommendations as did also Trustee Muhleman who with Trustee Shaw had conferred with Mr. Evans during the afternoon. Mr. Muhleman added, however: "I would like to have it understood that the Board of Trustees under the advice of the City Attorney and on such information as they may be able to obtain would have the right to bring action (to resist enforcement of toll) if they desire to do it. We may wish to take early action."

A. T. Cowan offered as an amended or substitute motion "that nothing be put in the way of the trustees going forward and doing whatever may be possible because if the order is carried into effect it means one of the greatest blows Glendale has ever had." Mr. Lane accepted Mr. Cowan's substitute motion and seconded it and the motion when put to vote carried.

Mr. Evans recommended that pending the outcome of the controversy, telephone patrons use long distance service as sparingly as possible.

Mr. Muhleman then asked this question of the City Attorney: "Assuming that I desire to call up Los Angeles and the exchange girl asks if I am willing to pay the toll, what should I say?" (Laughter all over the house).

Mr. Evans: "You should say, 'I am willing to pay it provided it is decided to be a lawful rate.'"

A gentleman who failed to give his name, asked: "In case the President by proclamation returns the various lines to their rightful owners, what effect would that have on the rates?"

Mr. Evans: "I do not believe in that event that the rules and regulations of Postmaster Burleson would remain as the rules and regulations of the new regime. I do not believe they will. I think everything will be placed in statu quo and go back where it was before."

Answering a question as to the return of public utilities taken over by the government, Mr. Evans stated that the cables were to go back Friday and telephone and telegraph lines had been recommended for return as soon as the necessary enactments could be put through.

John Robert White made the point that when the telephone lines in California return to private ownership, they will again be under the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission which has refused to recognize the Burleson rates as legal.

The chairman interpreted the advertisements published by the Telephone Company as an effort to brand Glendale and Burbank as defeated in their fight. Said he: "I think this meeting should express itself to the effect that this is going to be a good fight and we want the City of Los Angeles to watch it."

Mr. Muhleman said: "Our fight is not alone with Mr. Burleson. After it has left the jurisdiction of the United States we will have this matter to meet before the Railroad Commission. We might as well keep our armor on."

Mr. Lane then offered another motion, "that we fight this matter in the courts at the proper time to a finish." This was paraphrased by the chairman to read: "That the City of Glendale resist the action of the Telephone Company" and was amended by adding: "And that the chairman appoint a committee of three to investigate the investment made by the Telephone Company and bring all the facts to this body." In that final form the motion carried. The suggestion for the appointment of the Investigation Committee was made by a lady whose name was not given. While the majority of those present were men, women were well represented and made valuable contributions to the discussions.

One of the speakers whose name was witheld declared that since the toll fight in January the company had reduced its trunk lines into Glendale 50 per cent. or from 16 to 8.

The suggestion that 2000 patrons be persuaded to remove their telephones if necessary in defense of principle was received with hearty applause.

Mr. Woodberry called attention to the expensive interior finishing and equipment of the new telephone building, for all of which, he declared, the public pays, and remarked that any of us would cheerfully indulge in like luxury if some one else paid the bills.

W. R. Vanderwood told of a privately owned mutual benefit system established by persons he knew in a rural settlement which had connections with Colton, Rialto, San Dimas and other adjacent towns and gave good service at a cost to the subscribers of only 25 cents a month.

house as fast as he could. And to this day Murray can't look at a rabbit without seeing again the picture of that ghostly stare. So don't offer him fried rabbit when you entertain him.

Murray also told of how Ormond Bradley, driving a truck for his supply train, took up to the fighting line in Belgium great loads of bread. At first he was mystified to find his load so much smaller when he arrived than when he started, and on one occasions he had but a dozen loaves left. An investigation revealed that the starving civilians would follow the truck as it took its slow way over the shell-torn roads, climb on the back part and throw off loaf after loaf to their fellow sufferers. After that, two armed doughboys guarded the rear end of every bread truck.

During a great night battle Murray and a comrade crawled into a shell-hole after days and nights without sleep and sought a few hours' rest. They took off shoes and leggings and while Murray turned his shoes bottom side up his companion left his upright, with the leggings standing up inside of them. Then they drew their blankets close and instantly fell asleep, despite the deafening roar of the guns. As usual, it began raining during the night and when they awoke in the morning they were covered with ice. Murray had no trouble putting on his shoes, but when the other man held his up about a quart of half frozen water spilled out. With chattering teeth they finally managed to get rigged up and soon were warmed through and through by mingling in the fighting.
